John Wayne Pioneer Trail Rules of the Road

Motorized vehicles, including snowmobiles, are prohibited on the corridor at all times, except for authorized administrative or health and safety purposes. The corridor is open for non-motorized use, by permit only, east of the Columbia River near Vantage. The Washington State Parks occasionally closes portion of the corridor to reduce fire danger or to protect public safety. Washington State Parks may adjust the times when permits are issued during these times.

Permits

- Any individual, group or organization that wants to use the corridor must apply in Writing at least 15 days in advance to Washington State Parks at Lewis and Clark Trail State Park, 36149 Highway 12, Dayton, WA 99328-9500 or by requesting a permit be mailed to them by calling 509-337-645. The Washington State Parks will provide an application form and may allow a shorter period of advance notice if an applicant can show good cause.
- Washington State Parks will act on the application within five working days and will Notify the applicant in writing of approval or denial. All permits will include conditions about appropriate Indemnity and waiver clauses.
- The permit will be valid for one round trip over the identified route (see exception regarding day-use permits).
- Washington State Parks determines the fee, which covers permit processing. The fee for groups larger than 20 people is $25.00.
- The permit must be carried by the permit holder while on the corridor. For groups, the Permit holder is the person named as the group leader on the application, or the group leader's designee. The permit holder is required to show the permit when asked by an Authorized Washington State Parks representative.

Requirements for Use

Sanitation

Corridor users WILL NOT

- leave or scatter trash or refuse.
- leave human waste within ¼ mile of buildings, water sources, lakes, ponds, or streams (running or dry). Waste must be buried. Permit conditions for groups will require removal of human waste.
